

ABOUT US

A few years ago, Dr. Gwendolyn Gaut was deeply inspired by a vision to establish an organization dedicated to humanitarian outreach. Over time, this vision grew more vivid and compelling, and it's calling could not be ignored or silenced.

Rather than hesitating, the yearning to answer this divine calling intensified. This led to the birth of Sisters-In-Service (SIS). We are a united group of like-minded individuals, both men and women, committed to enlightening, empowering, and providing essential support to those in need. Our aim is to offer valuable resources that connect you with contacts who can bring about positive and informative outcomes.

OUR VISION

SIS collaborates closely with established governmental entities, nonprofits, and philanthropic organizations to deliver timely and effective support, while also striving to be innovative in addressing service gaps when necessary. Our goal is to provide compassionate assistance with attentive listening, comforting communication, and a genuine dedication to ensuring no sister is left behind, nurturing the rebirth of their lives.

SIS serves as a conduit for delivering vital information and services to the community, encompassing the following key support areas:

1. Humanitarian/Outreach
2. Health/Social Services
3. Education/ Arts/Recreation

OUR MISSION

Sisters-in-Service (SIS), a nonprofit organization, is dedicated to promoting the overall well-being of individuals and families in a comprehensive manner: physically, mentally, emotionally, socially, spiritually, and financially. Our primary objective is to empower individuals to realize their full potential as unique human beings and valuable contributors to our diverse society.
